

Cryptocurrency Exchanges

'Tis the Season to Be Wealthy

Here's a list of cryptocurrency Exchanges with affiliate sign up links where you and I will both receive free crypto, either when you sign up or when you make your first transaction.

Coinbase.com — https://www.coinbase.com/join/white%20_mbg

Coinbase.com is the gateway Exchange that is the easiest for beginners. It's still my favorite Exchange app for buying and selling crypto because it's so user-friendly and easy. It is also NOT a decentralized app, so there's an administrative team to help you if you run into trouble of any kind. In the decentralized world of crypto, that's not the case. Coinbase has their main Exchange and they also have a browser addition for some crypto and NFT transactions, as well as a separate COINBASE WALLET that you can use to store or buy smaller crypto projects. Find the affiliate link here. It's good to sign up on Coinbase right away because they take three days to do an identity check before activating your account.

Crypto.com — <https://platinum.crypto.com/r/qe7ymyu6ak>

Crypto.com has become infamous and is fast becoming a major Exchange platform. They have the largest publicity outreach campaign of all the Exchanges and have just purchased the Los Angeles Sports Arena. Since the Exchange is relatively new still, its COIN, "CRYPTO.COM COIN" is one of the fastest growing Exchange coins. There are benefits to owning the Exchange's coin. The link to sign up on Crypto.com is here.

Google Authenticator is an app that you download to your smart phone. It gives you automatically-generated changing codes for each exchange you sign up for. It gives you extra security through its special two-factor authentication. You have to connect each exchange to the google authenticator app.
